DAWES 'GETTING WARMED UP'

Campaign Prediction Coming True, G. O. P. Nominee Says

TRAVELS BY SPECIAL TRAIN

Likes Plan of Speaking from Rear Platform

CHICAGO. — (By Associated Press).—Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee, thundered his way across Iowa and Illinois Saturday with the LaFollette independent candidate over the object of his interest.

Arriving here Saturday evening to spend a four day interim before again taking up the campaign with speeches in Minnesota, associates of the nominee remarked that the general now has hit his stride and Dawes himself, recalled that he had predicted a month ago that it would be nearly October before he would "get warmed up."

DAWES PHRASES

Using a special train for the first time since he began his speaking campaign, Dawes appeared on the rear platform at every stop and as the train resumed its journey there was left behind with those who heard the nominee, a collection of Dawes-coined phrases such as "political penury" and "issue-straddling demagogues."

The reception given his rear platform speeches both Saturday and while enroute to Sioux Falls, S. D., where he made his principal speech of the trip Friday night, was declared by Dawes to have been satisfactory—so satisfactory, he said, that he plans to make as many rear platform talks as possible on his trip to the far west, starting about October 5.

Principal speeches were made at Dubuque, Iowa, and Galena, Ill., and at both points Dawes devoted his attention as he did in part at Sioux Falls and also as he did enroute to South Dakota, to "the greatest issue of this campaign—the issue of the constitution of the United States."

SENATOR HARRISON TO SPEAK AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND — United States Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi will be the speaker here September 29. The address, to be given in the ball room of Hotel Cleveland, will mark the formal opening of the national campaign by the Democratic party in Cuyahoga-co.

Other nationally known speakers to plead the Democratic cause here include Mrs. Izetta Jewell Brown, of West Virginia, October 10, and Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York October 17.

FANS AT TRIAL

CASABLANCA, Morocco — A local perfumery establishment capitalized on the widespread interest in a recent murder trial by distributing multicolored fans about the court room, with advertisements of the firm printed on them. The murder case, growing out of a love affair, was followed chiefly by women.

Clare Patterson was chosen as county service manager at the regular meeting of the Allen County Farm Bureau Saturday noon.

COURT COLLECTS BACK ALIMONY

Delinquents Fear Grand Jury and Pay, Cotner Says

$1,000 MONTHLY TOTAL

Check System Prevents Mistakes in Payments

Payment of back alimony is being made to speed up in the case of John T. Cotner, clerk of court, time for meeting of the grand jury draws near.

Delinquents, who have been letting their payments lag for maintenance of their former mates and children, are sliding in with a check for $1,000, Cotner says. The small possible action to get them for non-support is the hardest money Cotner says, of any payment in his office. Some few are regular as clock work, some now and then and some at all, unless coerced by legal action.

Every grand jury sees a long list of delinquents filed against delinquent husbands and fathers.

MAY EXCUSES

Arrested and arraigned to support the universal existence of unemployment or the difficulty of living caused the delinquency to fall in arrears, Cotner says.

From $100 to $1,000 a month back alimony, Cotner says, is not a large sum. In hard times, it is less than when conditions are good.

When money is paid in, a clerk enters the former husband in one book and when it is paid out, he checks an entry in an opposite column. In that way it is possible to strike a balance in a few days.

All alimony is paid out by check and the check number entered in the ledger, as well as on the books. Not infrequently this is the means of convincing delinquents who complain they are not getting their money, that they have been paid.

A percentage of one cent on the balance charged by the county for collecting and disbursing money.

GET WATCHMAN FOR CROSSING

Elizabeth-st Protection Promised by Railroad

Plans voiced repeatedly by Manager C. A. Bingham, for more adequate protection at the Pennsylvania railroad's crossing on N. Elizabeth-st during the night hours have been heard and answered by officials of the railroad.

R. H. Pinkham, of Ft. Wayne, in a letter to Bingham, says that a survey made by the road has resulted in decision to have a watchman on duty up until 11 p. m.

In the past the watchman has gone off duty early in the evening. The survey made by the railroad shows 36 vehicles and persons cross the tracks between the hours of 5 a. m. and 4 a. m. daily. From 6 p. m. to 7 a. m. the number is 289. Between 10 p. m. and 11 p. m. the number of vehicles and pedestrians averages 115 daily. After 11 p. m. the number of vehicles and persons using the crossing dwindles materially.

Have you seen this new car? —It is a closed-open car!

VALUE POINTS—New Special Six:

- The New Duplex-Phaeton Body—it solves the closed-open car problem.
- Genuine Balloon Tires—20 x 6.20 inches.
- New Satin-Lacquer Finish.
- Spanish chrome tanned leather upholstery.
- New idea in ease of operation and control.
- Vibrationless Engine; forced-feed oiling system with new idea in oil supply.
- Four Wheel Hydraulic Brakes Optional—totally unlike any other system on American cars. Automatic braking pressure.

A WEEK ago the new Studebaker Special Six DUPLEX-PHAETON was first announced.

Today, countless thousands of people are talking about this entirely new type of car.

One moment it is a closed car—in five seconds it can be transformed into a delightful, airy, open car. But it is always the closed car in deep soft cushions, beautiful fittings and finish and luxurious riding comforts.

When you see it and ride in it you will know why it has made so profound a sensation—you will realize then that it gives you more than the finest open car can ever give you, plus the comfort and protection of the closed car.

And all at the price of an open car!

And this is the new DUPLEX BODY on the famous Special Six Chassis.

Hundreds of thousands of owners all over this country and abroad have given the Studebaker Special Six a name for value, dependability and performance second to no other automobile.

The new Studebaker Special Six retains all the qualities which make great reputation—to these have been added every real improvement which science and owner-service could suggest.

Even aside from the sensational new DUPLEX BODY—the Studebaker Special Six has no superior in value in any car yet built. It was the conscientious intention of Studebaker in planning and designing the new Special Six to make it just such a leader—to that end every resource of the great Studebaker organization has been concentrated.

Even if we had the space we could not begin to tell you of the very many new and unusual features which indicate its superiority.

Certainly no words could do justice to its distinctive beauty.

In appearance it is unlike any other American car—yet its long, low, broad, sweeping lines are conservative, crisply stylish and in beautifully good taste.

Think of the new Studebaker Special Six Duplex-Phaeton as the ultimate in value and performance in a five-passenger car—think of it as a car matchless in practical convenience and desirability.

But to appreciate the sparkling beauty of its totally new lines you must see it. To know its perfection of operation and performance you must ride in it and drive it.

If you have not seen this NEW type car—come today!

Business Conditions

After a quiet week, business has been fairly good, but not particularly active. The market for wheat is now steady, and prices are holding up well.

There is a little more activity in the wheat market, and prices are holding up well. The market for wheat is now steady, and prices are holding up well.

With the building season well advanced, and with many projects on the cards for the future, permits are being taken out at city hall. The return of ship men, especially at the docks and the railroads, has brought more confidence. Few business men, either bankers or merchants, however, realize how difficult Lima's employment situation really is. It is seldom you can find a group of ten men, and find more than two who are employed at our so-called big industries. Not that we do not need the big shops, but rather, that we were not broke when these great enterprises were running on short shifts.

The big bull-bull news of the week was the Henry Ford development planned for northeast Lima. While brewing, intimated, forecasted, semi-officially announced many weeks, actual payments have now been made. Henry Ford expects to be with us, in broader railway facilities, certainly, and in necessary factory plants, possibly.

Retail trade was snappy all week. Men came into the market for fall wear, and buying by the women is in full bloom. Shoe business has picked up wonderfully, furniture is being moved rapidly, and every line of retail trade is reflecting the demands of consumers. Automobiles continue to move spasmodically, replacements being apparent. The used car surplus is said to have been greatly reduced.

Money is in good demand, and sale supply, locally, and a dearth in the metropolitan centers.

Burning Up Ohio

We are recklessly doing that very thing, according to the annual report of State Fire Marshal Louis E. Miller. In view of the fact that 50 per cent of all fires in this state, attended by loss of life and property, are due to carelessness or neglect, it is a record of which the people should be thoroughly ashamed.

In comparison with the relatively low rate of loss to property and the taking of lives by fire in Lima, the record for the state as a whole is appalling. Last year the fire loss in Ohio was $14,624,112. In these fires 287 people were burned to death, and 764 seriously injured.

However, the record of this state was better than in any other in the union. Had our fire loss been as great in proportion to population as was that of the remainder of the country, it would have been more than $7,000,000 greater in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924. And had the loss of life as a result of fires been as great in proportion, that loss would have been in excess of 600, instead of 287.

Ohio should make better progress than many other states in the union in the matter of fire prevention, since its fire marshals department is the oldest in point of continuous operation in the United States, and such successful fire mar has devoted more time and attention to the subject of fire prevention. Local fire departments have entirely different methods of procedure now than in the past.

Firemen are in exceeding the point of the prevention, with the building of new houses.

to fight the red dragon when it attacks. Inspectors and removal of the hazards, the razing of buildings that are fire traps and a menace; fire drills in schools, and the observance of fire prevention work—all these play their part in blighting home to the people generally the necessity of care and caution, if they would be reasonably free of the danger of attack by the destructive element, which is an excellent servant, but a bad master.

"Buying Offices"

Thomas E. Day, Urbana, is the chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, a place held for a long period of years by W. W. Dublin, Kenton. Chairman Day appears to be an observing executive, considering the manner in which he is turning up information concerning the high cost of Republican nominations for state office.

For instance, he found, so he asserts, that Harry L. Davis and his backers paid nearly $25,000 for the Republican nomination for governor for Davis, only slightly less than was expended in 1920 when Davis won in the primary.

Chairman Day has also found that Charles H. Lewis, Harper banker, with the aid of his friends who contributed to his campaign, expended nearly $4,000 for the prospect of election of Lewis to a $2,000 a year job for a period of two years. Twelve others contended with Lewis for the nomination for the lieutenant governorship, and Day hazards the belief that more was expended for Lewis than for all the other candidates combined.

Davis would have to have nearly three and a half years of office to get back in salary, the amount invested to secure him the nomination. Lewis would be required, by the same sort of reckoning, to have about three years of office. And both have only been nominated. Both will face opponents in the election, and it is reasonable to believe that additional large sums will be expended by Davis and Lewis and their friends in the campaign now on, to say nothing of $200,000 the campaign committee of their party is demanding.

Chairman Day asks, quite pertinently: "Are public offices in Ohio for sale to the highest bidder?" It is a sad commentary on the citizenship of the state to stand idly and apparently disinterestedly by and see such incidents without protest. What chance is there for people in moderate circumstances to attain political honors, in the light of disclosures following the primary election?

Magic of Life

The long, lonely chair for perpetual life has been found, announces Prof. Sir Julian Huxley of England. Wait a minute. So far, the discovery can only be used in making flatworms "live forever."

Possibly it will lead—too improbably—to a way of prolonging human life for 50 or more years beyond normal death age. But not for long. Nature would invent new ways of killing us off. We have to leave the time of life to make room for the next generations.

The most fascinating things in modern life are taking place in the scientific laboratory, which used to be a dull place for most people.

Here is magic. Whether it'll ever be useful knowledge or not, no one knows. Professor Huxley changes the sex of culina pira, turning male into female and vice versa. He does it, yet cannot understand it. Any more, he says, than he can figure out what makes an elephant or any other animal grow to a certain size and then stop instead of continuing until it's as big as a mountain range.

Life is magic, he says, the closer we get to it, the more magic it is.

THE BATTLE RAGES

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

ON TAKING A CHILL

A prominent citizen was five hours on the road one December morning in the snow and cold, a northwest wind, a temperature of 20. The citizen had no fear of weather. When he arrived home he felt a little chilly, he said, but he believed his overcoat had kept him dry. Some of the home folks noticed, however, that there was snow on his hair and his neck was wet.

Now there is a certain class of very ignorant people who never get their necks wet if they can help it. You can pick 'em out in a gathering if you are at all familiar about necks. But this particular citizen, I'm talking about, probably had no qualms of that sort. Anyway, it was some other person in the house, not he, that noticed his neck was wet.

I want to give the matter all the emphasis such an important matter deserves. A wet neck is a dreadful happening. Wet feet are as nothing when compared with a wet neck. Only a childish mentality places wet feet on a level with or above a wet neck in practical hygiene. The flapper goes about with her feet in enormous galoshes and her neck, necklessly exposed to the elements. That's because her mind is undeveloped. But the business man, you must have noticed, is very careful to turn up his coat collar when it is damp or raining or slushy or snowing, even tho he is just running across the street. He wants to save his neck.

Our prominent citizen sat right down to dinner without changing his clothes. After dinner he seemed as well as usual. But surely you must suspect that this recital has an ominous meaning. There's tragedy coming. The citizen probably rode out hundreds of times before in the cold and wet, with his hair and his neck and everything. But this time the dampness of the wet neck somehow assumed a formidable significance.

Well, next day was Friday — make as much of that as you will. There was a heavier fall of snow. The prominent citizen found himself, with a severe cold—that's what he and his friends thought—so he went out for only a little while to mark some trees on his land he wanted cut down. Later in the day his head was ached, and he made light of it, like a regular citizen, and would do nothing. Why should he do anything about a mere "cold?"

And so it went until about 2 o'clock next morning, when the citizen awoke his wife and told her he had had a chill. She noticed he could scarcely speak, and that he breathed with considerable difficulty. She wanted to get up and do something, but he feared the night, take cold and dissuaded her. Now I have always maintained that this "cold" delusion is a fatal thing, and here, I suspect, was an instance of its deadly influence.

It would be great fun to carry this recital along like this for a whole column or two, but there are so many important matters to print that I had better confess right now that the prominent citizen was none other than George Washington.

I should like to know what George Washington died of. It is often surmised that he had pneumonia, but that wouldn't explain the great hoarseness and difficulty of speech. Sometimes commentators suggest quinsy, which might explain the symptoms, but why should a vigorous man like Washington succumb to quinsy? From his historical writings it would seem he did not succumb. Was he the victim of diphtheria? Had there been another case or two, about the Washington household or on any of the farms he had visited Thursday, that would fit the picture very well.

It is a favorite implication of certain people who were perhaps careless about paying their doctor bills in earlier years, that George Washington was bled to death. His friends certainly bled him early and often. They took half a pint of blood from his veins early Saturday morning, some time before the doctor arrived. The doctor bled him again about Saturday noon, and about 4 in the afternoon the three doctors bled the patient a third time, and Washington didn't faint, so then they gave him some tartar emetic and calomel, which proved equally ineffectual.

By half past 4, however, George Washington himself had decided he was going to die, for he called his wife and had her

THE FRIEND FROM HOME
When you've taken to the highways, either toll or pleasure bent, And have traveled eastwards, westwards on this good old continent, When you've walked and talked with strangers for a week or two or more, But never one among them you have ever seen before, Oh, I tell you then, my brother, where so ever you may roam, Your eyes will dance with pleasure if you meet a friend from home.

If he passed and failed to see you, you'd start running down the street And you'd call his name out loud, lest you'd miss that chance to meet. For there is no thrill of gladness, when out wandering you go, like finding 'mong the faces of the throng just one you know; It's a good old world, my brother, as you'll readily agree, in the city of the strangers when a friend from home you see.

Oh, the strangers may be kindly and their smiles be honest, too. They may guess that you are lonely and may share their joys with you; But they do not know your people and they do not know your town. And the pleasures and the sorrows which the years have written down; And there's something in the laughter and the twinkle in the eye. Of a friend from home, my brother, which no stranger can supply.

It is not on desert islands where a man must dwell alone. But in cities dense with people, bitter loneliness is known; To stand upon the curbstone and to see them come and go, Men and women all around you, and not one of them you know! Oh, I tell you then, my brother, that your eyes will dance with pleasure if among that march of strangers one familiar face you see. (Copyright, 1924)

AMERICA IN 1362 DISCOVERED

Norsemen Settled on Coast, Scientists Believe
STONE RELATES STORY
Journey to Hudson Bay Region Bears Truth

SPRINGFIELD, Wis. — (By Associated Press)—Kensington Rune Stone, one of the oldest documents of American history, over which scientists of two continents debated as to its genuineness more than 20 years ago, now has a permanent home on the farm of Mr. R. Holland, author, near here.

Several societies and eminent authorities have passed the stone as authentic as to discovery, and content, and say it proves to them that there were white people exploring the interior of America as early as 1362.

The Kensington Rune Stone, so-called because of its discovery on the farm of Olaf Ohman, near Kensington, Minnesota, when found was encircled by the roots of a tree, and appeared to be very ancient in character. It carried a date more than eight hundred years in the past. The assumption of scientists is that the stone was inscribed by early Norsemen who landed in America in search of a new country.

How the stone came to find a resting place in Minnesota has been a matter of conjecture for many years, but the generally accepted theory is that it was carried down in a glacial drift from the region of Hudson Bay.

Mr. Holland has translated the Rune inscription on the stone as follows:

HERE IS STORY

Eight Goths and twenty-two Norsemen on (an) exploration journey from Vinland thru the western regions. We had camp by the shore one day's journey north from this stone. We were camped and fished one day. When we came home (we) found ten men with blood and dead, and we have ten of our party to look after (or for) the vessels 14 days' journey from the island. Year, 1362.

Ten men mentioned in the text are supposed to have been members of the exploration party sent to watch the camp while the rest went fishing, as stated.

In theory, the story of the exploration party's presence in America is that an expedition was fitted out in Norway in 1355, by Paul Knutson in relief of colonists in Greenland. It is believed that Knutson eventually reached Vinland and, not finding those whom he came to search, journeyed on to what is now the Hudson Bay country. The time of the expedition fits in with the date inscribed on the Rune Stone.

The word "Ave Maria" of the text indicates the presence of a Catholic priest in the expedition, Mr. Holland says.

It is known of the expedition of its route, but it is known that the men included in its personnel were a long time absent.

A further theory is that the "blond Eskimos," described by the explorer Vilhjalfr Stefansson as having been found by him west of Hudson Bay in 1909, may have been descendants of the "lost colonists," in search of which Knutson went.

GREAT BUILDING YEAR

CHICAGO — Indications are that 1924 will be the greatest building year in the history of the country, according to a review made public by the Indiana Limestone Quarries Association. Building construction for the first eight months of the year has reached a total of $2,429,000,000. And there still is a widespread demand for building.

ELKS RULE HERD

SAN FRANCISCO — A herd of buffaloes at Golden Gate Park is under the autocratic sway of a lonely elk bull. The elk is not required to use force to execute his orders, but merely indicates by a shake of his horns what he wants done and it's done, according to Custodian F. P. Slaters.

Combat in the paddock is distasteful to him, and he is frequently called upon to separate two belligerent bulls.

These Girls too Ill to Attend School

DAUGHTER OF MRS. VLEGHER NORTH BALTIMORE, OHIO

AT no age does a young girl need greater care than from the time she reaches the age of twelve years until womanhood is established. Many a woman has suffered years of misery because as a girl she has been allowed to sit around with wet feet, lift heavy articles, overwork and overstudy. In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It is a root and herb medicine, contains nothing harmful and may be taken in perfect safety by any school girl.

This Mother's Letter and Daughter's Photograph of Interest to Every American Mother

NORTH BALTIMORE, OHIO.—"My fourteen-year-old daughter took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound every month for weakness. One of her classmates in school who had the same trouble told her about it. She said: 'My mother makes me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So that day she came home and told me and we got some the next day. She took three bottles of it and never has to stay home from school now from sickness. She is strong and well. I am sure if any mother writes to me I will be glad to answer her letter."—Mrs. VLEGHER, Box 61, North Baltimore, Ohio.

Another Mother Tells What It Did for Her Daughter

DANDRIDGE, TENN.—"My daughter was not able to go to school for almost a year because of pains in her side and other troubles girls often have. I was just studying one day what I could give her that would help her when I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided I would get it for her. Since taking it she has gained to normal weight and goes to school all the time."—Mrs. GEORGE HINCHLEY, Dandridge, Tenn.

Rainbow Staff Prepares for Weekly Publication

CLASS OFFICERS NAMED

Hi Clubs Enjoy Banquet at Y. M. C. A. Building Here

The new Rainbow staff of South High school was entertained Monday evening at a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Graham is planning to make the banquet an annual affair, in order to get all the members of the staff acquainted with each other before beginning the work of the year.

After the banquet Mr. Graham introduced Miss Olive Hawkins, the new editor in chief. Miss Hawkins said that she would like to have the cooperation of every member of the staff. In this way she expects it to be possible to make a better paper.

Then there was a discussion by all the members of the staff as to how the Rainbow could be improved. The staff is planning to make the paper a weekly publication, and of a bi-monthly paper.

Mr. Hughes, the new faculty business manager, was then introduced to the staff.

Mr. Graham then made the last speech, showing how the Rainbow could better school spirit and direct the various aims of the school.

The Seniors held their class meeting Tuesday, electing Theodore Kaffitz, president. He was re-elected. Franklin Gilroy was elected vice-president; Grace Wagner, secretary; William Greenbaum, treasurer; and Evelyn Faye, reporter.

Mass meetings were held at South Wednesday, Thursday and Friday during the activity period. These meetings were given over to the Rainbow staff, to secure suggestions for the school paper.

Miss Olive Hawkins, the editor in chief of this year, was introduced by Mr. Graham. Miss Hawkins then introduced the other members of the staff, each giving a short speech.

From the speeches, and the way which they were received, it is clear that South's new weekly paper is to be a success.

A contest was started in the seventh and eighth grades, for the winning home room to secure a banner to hang in the hall for the remainder of the year.

According to Miss Hawkins the issue of the paper will be out today.

Twenty evening after school meetings were held, but Mr. Gilroy would like to have the membership still greater.

The Juniors held their class meeting Wednesday, electing Max W. Lark, president; Thomas Brown, vice-president; Robert Brown, secretary; Carl Speer, treasurer; Evelyn Faye, reporter.

According to Mr. Graham, very few of the Juniors' activities were started this week, with the exception of the school paper and the Hi Y. Mr. Graham wanted the Juniors to have a very good start in their school work before taking other activities.

The members of the Hi Y of South met at the Y. M. C. A. for a banquet Wednesday evening.

After the banquet, members told of their experiences at the Hi Y camp last summer, each emphasizing the inspiration of service received from camp life. Mr. Martin, of Dayton, then spoke of the responsibility that members of the Hi Y have. Mr. Veal spoke very emphatically about maintaining the high standard of the Hi Y.

Ned Jennings appointed Franklin Gilroy chairman of the boosters committee; Theodore Kaffitz, chairman of the social committee; Wilbur Goodnow, chairman of the

ABE MARTIN On Blessings of a Dry Nation

IT WUZ'N' LIKE THIS IN TH' OLDEN DAYS.

"I don't care what anybody says, prohibition has worked wonders," declared Mrs. Ike Lark, whose husband got all the way home with a watermelon today. An' she's right, fer prohibition has done a heap. On all the saloon corners we find thrivin' fillin' stations, vulcanizin' concerns, an' sandwich bazaars, an' if a husband is late fer dinner his wife knows that he's been knocked down an' killed, or detained by a blow out, an' not squanderin' his wages fer drink. An' another thing, very few are earnin' enough t' buy a quart. What drinkin' there is carried on quietly, an' if it wuz' fer auto smashups, we'd never know there wuz any drinkin' goin' on if we kept out o' society. Of course, crowded theaters an' dance halls often smell like varnish factories, or hair tonic laboratories, but th' ole combination whisky, garlic an' clove fumes are unknown today. It's easy nowdays t' tell whether a son tipples or not. If he doubles up in a knot we know he's just beginnin' an' it's not too late t' take him in hand. There's nothin' habit formin' about th' booze that's available today. No-buddy lives long enough t' become a drunkard, an' nobuddy but a feller with a concrete constitution kin remember where he got his second drink if he survives his first one. We notice lots o' difference in our ole friends o' pre-war days. Some o' them are a little flabby an' hain't got as many good stories t' tell, but if they say they'll be back in ten minutes they nearly allus keep their word. An' how much cleaner their vests are! Prohibition must a' hit th' clothes cleanin' industry an' awful wallop. But one o' th' best things about prohibition is that when a feller wants t' git lit up he can't git th' stuff, an' when it is flowin' freely he don't want it. There's laws agin counterfeitin' an' murder, but a lot o' folk violate 'em, an' it's th' same with th' prohibition law. It has its violators but they soon get poisoned an' forgotten. Bootleggin' it solve itself if we'll let th' bootleggers alone. Th' great bulk o' th' drinkin' is done amid th' sweet and gentle influences o' th' home these days an' is not paraded on th' public square or in crowded cafes. Another thing—in th' ole days o' good liquor a feller used t' mix it with his business an' kill his business, but today it kills th' feller an' his wife gits his business. There's jest one thing that th' prohibition enthusiasts fell down on in th' glowin' prospectus o' th' wonderful things prohibition would accomplish, an' that's th' proposition that it would empty th' jails an' prisons. But there wuz bound t' be a violent reaction followin' th' closin' up o' anything as long standin' an' popular as th' ole saloon. What did we think

DOMESTICATING DEERS REQUIRES COURAGE AND TACT. INDIANS DECLARE

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — The average youngster who pictures Santa Claus as having a soft snap skipping his herd of reindeer from roof to roof, would revise his opinion if he saw a reindeer broken to harness, say those who have undertaken the job.

Being a nomad, the work deer cannot be corralled as a calf and gradually domesticated. He must be taken when practically full grown. The battle to break him lasts for many weeks, with the animal alternating between trying to escape and fighting like a Tasmanian devil, declares Tom Pootoluk, an Eskimo herder.

First the reindeer is deprived of its horns. It requires two or three strong men to cut the creature harness. Then the fun begins. At times the driver seeks refuge under the sled until the deer has cooled down and decided to cease hostilities for a while.

"Driving does all right," commented Pootoluk. "But reindeer

GLENER'S BELL RINGS VILLAGE WORKERS FROM THEIR HOMES TO FIELDS

LONDON — Although Ruth's ancient industry went out of fashion in the United States long ago, for which modern agricultural reaping machinery may be praised or blamed, there are many places throughout England where the "gleaner's bell" may still be heard in these early harvest days.

The bell notifies the village folk that they may begin to glean the field, and a casual passer through the English countryside these days may witness scenes akin to the one which Millet's canvas, "Immortelles in the Louvre."

The gleaner's bell can be heard very near London, in the neighboring village of Farnham, in Essex. It sounds from the church tower at 9 a. m., and 5 p. m., as soon as harvesting is sufficiently advanced for gleaning to be permissible.

The Lanchester Balancer gives Willys-Knight a vibrationless smoothness unique in a motor car.

Willys-Knight Scores Again

Men and women who drive cars rightly demand the most of them. They render a verdict of enthusiasm for the Willys-Knight. The test of everyday driving proves to them the completeness with which its latest refinement, the Lanchester Balancer, prevents engine vibration at any speed.

Car owners, who object to vibration in open cars, find it amounts to a continually renewed irritation in closed cars. With closed cars coming more widely into use each year,

demand for the elimination of engine vibration has grown imperative

Willys-Knight supplies this demand—the Lancaster Balancer conquers vibration. The Balancer makes a better engine of the world's best engine—the famous sleeve-valve motor that improves with use. It registers another achievement for Willys-Knight,—the car that literally outruns its field.

The Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer is on view now. Inspect it. Try it out. Then render your verdict.

LIGHT DIMMING FORBIDDEN

Wisconsin Acts to Prevent Night Auto Mishaps

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Contrary to general regulations throughout the country, the state of Wisconsin forbids motorists from dimming their headlights. The reason given is that dimming causes more accidents than glaring headlights.

"Everyone knows that bright lights shining in the eye blind a person and cause accidents," reads a bulletin from the state highway department. "Not so many people know that suddenly dimming the headlights on passing another car also blinds the driver and that this procedure causes just as many highway accidents as glaring lights."

The highway is compared with a bright room into which a person enters from a dark room.

"If memory of what he saw before dimming were not a factor to the driver," the bulletin goes on, "the number of accidents due to dimming would be appalling. The proper kind of lights are those that can light up the highway far ahead and will not rise above the level of the lenses. Thus the headlights would be made still should not glare at an approaching driver's eyes."

New Chevrolet Coach Offered By Lima Agent

Chevrolet Motor Co. has advertised a new line of automobiles by the production of a new Chevrolet coach. It is to be sold at a very attractive price, local agents have been advised.

The coach is different from any of those on the market in that it has an all steel panel body and is finished in black with a red stripe. In general construction it corresponds to other Chevrolet models and especially the standard sedan.

The door on each side is exceptionally large, allowing easy entry and exit and the wide windows are so designed as to give a large amount of light and to permit a wide range of vision.

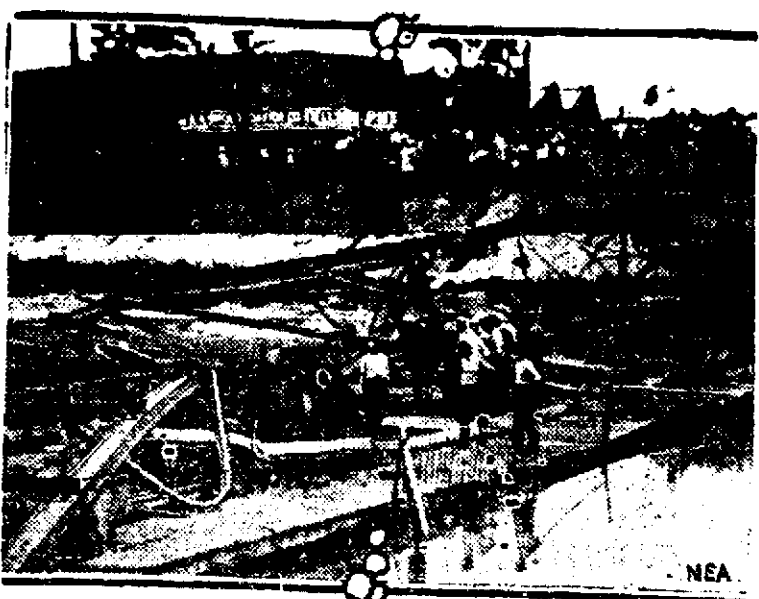

The new model is large and roomy, with the driver's seat slanting and a folding seat to his right. The rear seat has plenty of room for three people. Upholstery is in a striped tan and blue and the other parts of the car are to match.

Latest type of appliances for raising and lowering of windows, a dome light, satin curtains and metal sun visor are all standard equipment.

Production of the new models has started and it is planned to place one car in the hands of each dealer before any duplicates are made. This will make plenty of cars rather slower than delivery will be desired, dealers say.

SIGNS MEAN WHAT THEY SAY

This is what happened when three motorists who didn't believe in signs met on a rickety bridge spanning Wolf Creek at Dayton, O., recently. The signs warned drivers that the bridge couldn't hold more than six tons at a time. The three autos tested it and found the signs were more than true. Autos and bridge were hurled into the stream. Six were hurt, none seriously.

Paige-Jewett Popularity In Europe Grows

Export business of the Paige-Jewett Motor Car company, especially in England and Continental Europe is having a satisfactory growth, according to Harry M. Jewett, president of the company who has just returned to Detroit from a month's trip abroad.

Sales of Jewett cars alone in England are far ahead of the same period for last year, 65 of this make having been sold within the last 30 days by the London dealer organization, states the Paige president.

Germany, which until this year, has been practically a barren market for American motor manufacturers has been entered by the Paige company. Paige and Jewett motor cars are being shipped regularly to Germany. "At the present time our export market reports show us that we are very close to the lead in exports to Germany," Jewett states.

With the addition of the German business this year, Jewett states that exports to the continent of Europe for the first four months of this year will exceed the entire year 1923.

"Despite past widespread unemployment," continued Jewett, "business in England will soon show an improvement as conditions are fundamentally sound. British automobile manufacturers appear to be staging a come back. In the face of a sales supremacy attained in 1921-22, when American manufacturers sold more than 50 per cent of the motor cars purchased in England, we find that the British makers sold 69 per cent of motor cars in 1923."

"This increase however, is due to the growing popularity of the small motor car of 8 to 12 horsepower, similar to the cycle car which failed as a sales success in the United States in 1914. This type of motor car is accepted by certain classes. Its low horsepower gives the owner less tax fees under the present British taxation scheme.

"The total sales of American built motor cars showed an increase in 1923 over the past year, in fact, 55 per cent of what Americans would call automobiles, sold in England are American makes."

FRANCE TRYING FOR RECORD

World Record May Be Lowered by Europe

PARIS.—France is preparing to send to America a racer entrusted with the mission of bringing back the world's short distance speed record.

This record, now held by Tommy Milton, is 155.4 miles an hour established in his 16-cylinder Duesenberg at Daytona Beach.

To make such a short stretch at a faster clip M. Moglia, connected with the Ballot and the Talbot-Darracq, companies in France, has designed a 400-horsepower car, built solely for speed, to the order of M. Djelaleddin, an Egyptian sportsman, who will accompany the car to America.

Beside the high speed feature, the car will show a new way to reduce weight. With the standard 56-inch tread in front, there will be only a 37-inch tread in the rear, and the differential will be eliminated.

At the same time, use of aluminum water jackets and the same metal at other advantageous points will reduce the weight of the car to a minimum.

The engine will be an eight, in two castings of four each. Each cylinder will have a carburetor and a supercharged to permit of full fuel supply at the highest possible speeds.

And streamlining on it has been developed to the ultimate.

TO SPEED UP TOURING

"Express" highways, especially thru the smaller cities, are recommended to speed up highway traffic, by Alvan Macauley, prominent auto manufacturer. Such highways would be directed around each city, so that a motorist not planning to stop there may go on his way without slowing up or clogging up traffic within the city limits.

Maxwell Cars Purchased For Fire Fighting

Commissioners of the New York Fire Department recently paid a high compliment to the Maxwell by purchasing 25 touring cars from the Colt-Stewart Co., Manhattan distributor for Maxwell-Chrysler. These cars are to be used by the Fire Department battalion chiefs.

The city requires that all cars considered for departmental use be subjected to a test of 157 miles from New York to Poughkeepsie and return. The Good Maxwell was submitted to this test, made an average speed of 31 miles of the entire run, gave no evidence of over-heating, and upon rigid inspection after the return journey, showed no mechanical defects. It was this test run that definitely decided the commissioners on the Good Maxwell. On the trip to Poughkeepsie four men were carried in each of the several cars tested and not one of the cars was ever taken out of high gear. More than twenty miles was covered to the gallon of fuel.

In an economy run, recently staged by the Royal Automobile Club of Queensland, Australia, the good Maxwell won a remarkable victory in its class by covering 52 2-10 road miles per Imperial gallon. In ton mileage this figured 26 4-10 miles, and on the results of the formula used in the contest figured 64 8-10 miles per gallon.

In winning honors in its class the good Maxwell, driven by W. S. Mackay, easily overshadowed the performance of the six other entries. The second car in the contest traveled only 30 3-10 actual road miles per Imperial gallon.

SAFETY CHAIN SECURES PAYROLL

Three strongly armed automobiles in Kansas City are being equipped to save money and secure payroll from bank robbers.

The bank cars are equipped with a steel chain attached to the steel money box and winding on a wench. Whenever the box is taken, even inside a bank, the chain secures it to the armored car.

If robbers happen to hold up the messenger, all he does is drop the money box and the chain is coiled into the car with the box as valuable. The chain is strong enough to resist cutting except with an ax-like touch.

Above is shown one of the armored cars with safety chain in use.

BIG DEMAND FOR HORSES—The demand for horses, particularly for saddle horses, is increasing rapidly. At the same time, breeders are getting high prices for raddles, saddle horses and truck horses, especially in Vermont. The government's Morgan Horse Farm has a call for heavy horse-drawn trucking companies to send their horses to the farm for training. Trained horses bring a high price for more horses for the farm. $100 to $1,000 each.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

The Good Maxwell—The Good Friend of Its Owners

Tens of thousands of American families look upon their good Maxwell cars with a feeling akin to positive gratitude.

For the good Maxwell has enabled them to regard the motor car as something more than merely a means of transportation.

If you examine into the basic reasons for such performance, and for

Maxwell's economical, care-free service, you discover that both the new transmission and new rear axle are strong and rugged enough for a truck; that the simple device of a platform spring under the front end of the motor, combined with the balancing of reciprocating parts to the fraction of an ounce, practically eliminates any sense of vibration; that in proportion to weight, it is actually stronger than cars costing two, three or even four times as much.

The good Maxwell is thus fulfilling, with almost startling success, the mission its makers proclaimed four years ago, when they announced that—"The new and powerful organization now manufacturing the good Maxwell is able to give and proposes to give, motor car values so unmistakable that they cannot remain for a moment in question."

The Lanchester Balancer gives Willys-Knight a vibrationless smoothness unique in a motor car.

Willys-Knight Scores Again

Men and women who drive cars rightly demand the most of them. They render a verdict of enthusiasm for the Willys-Knight. The test of everyday driving proves to them the completeness with which its latest refinement, the Lanchester Balancer, prevents engine vibration at any speed.

Car owners, who object to vibration in open cars, find it amounts to a continually renewed irritation in closed cars. With closed cars coming more widely into use each year,

demand for the elimination of engine vibration has grown imperative

Willys-Knight supplies this demand—the Lancaster Balancer conquers vibration. The Balancer makes a better engine of the world's best engine—the famous sleeve-valve motor that improves with use. It registers another achievement for Willys-Knight,—the car that literally outruns its field.

The Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer is on view now. Inspect it. Try it out. Then render your verdict.

SPENCER, W. Va. — "Let's eat here," Earl Lowe said to Brooks Greathouse as they drove up to H. B. Miller's restaurant. While there a bargain was struck and the restaurant with all its equipment was traded for the automobile. Miller removed his apron and drove away in the car, while the new owners took charge of the place.

WHY PARIS IS "DIFFERENT"

These are the Styles that Remain Distinctive Because They are a Little Too Radical Ever to Become Widely Popular

BY M. THERESE BONNEY
PARIS — (Special) — What buyers for leading American houses buy in Paris and advertise "direct from Paris" and what your neighbor, the tourist, brings home as the "dernier cri" in no way represent the real Parisian creations.

It is the "just different" thing which the buyer shuns because it might prove a white elephant, or which your neighbor hasn't the courage to wear at the bridge club, which makes Paris the inspiration of the world when it comes to fashions.

It is the scarf-sleeve, the cleverly conceived scarf which terminates in finely embroidered cuffs, which makes it less difficult to handle and which makes a sleeveless frock more wearable.

It is the embroidered bouquet which replaces the fresh flowers so dear to the heart of the American and which affords an excellent example of the thrift of the French.

It is the removable train which is practical and useful or it may be the simplest cretonne tunic bordered in old-fashioned unbleached muslin with slip of the same or ropes of tiny enchainé mirrors cascading from a quaint creation of bridal satin and silver lace.

Paris is Paris for all of these.

SOME REASONS WHY PARIS IS THE INSPIRATION OF THE WORLD WHEN IT COMES TO FASHIONS.

Accessories for Smart, New Costumes

SEPTEMBER SHIPS bring fashionable women who have been summering and shopping abroad. Their smart costumes are marked by extreme simplicity. They show in their choice of accessories their awareness of the fashion importance of such things. Purse, hose and gloves frequently match exactly in color. Hats and jewelry accent in line and color the smartness of the frock.

Irene Castle, always a picture of chic simplicity, arrives on the "Paris" in a black silk frock. Dull black are here suede shoes, her small felt hat and her purse. And relieving and accenting this black are the sparkling and brilliant ornaments in her hat, and the small jeweled buttons which gleam on her white chemise yoke, and at the end of her long tight sleeves.

The mother of Douglas Fairbanks Jr., who arrives on the same boat, looks almost as young as her good-looking son. "Many bou-tonniers and worn," she tells us. And she owns a large carnation of shaded orchid and pink—sets off her unbelieved beige frock to decided advantage.

A smart Parisian traveler has matched exactly her high crowned hat, her handbag, and her shoes.

Concerning the Prince of Wales and the New Fashions

THE PRINCE IS HERE. And there is a fashion sequel to the story of his arrival. For after the Burgundians transferred its royal passenger to a yacht at quarantine, it came up the bay to its pier bringing noted beauties who were in the Prince's party and many attractive debutantes who were also fellow passengers.

FIRST IN INTEREST is Lenore Cahill, the young woman from St. Louis, the only American to dance with the Prince. She was just the right size to dance with, said he, and she is just the right type to wear—first, a felt hat in green, with a square crown, of course. A green frock of the newest silk—bezeline. A coat to make an ensemble costume, in just the same shade of green as the frock but with kasha for its fabric. The feet that danced with the Prince, wear Cinderella slippers of matching green lizard skin. LADY DIANA MANNERS, whose blond loveliness is famous on both sides of the sea, endorses the color scheme that is the most popular of all.

This Gardenia Note Is Significant

Many other women wear the shoulder flower in autumn colors. Grace La Rue, who sang to the Prince on the way, chooses a yellow gardenia to blend with the warm tones of her brown dress. Her hat is burnt russet color.

AND OTHER YOUNG WOMEN, less famous but no less fashionable, are wearing:—

The ensemble costume suit that often chooses the tone for its complement. Have you seen our line of them? The simple coat dress that emphasizes kasha, rep or chameen, and three silhouettes, the side closing from shoulder to hem, the long pipe lapels, or the long front opening with Directoire details.

Costume jewelry that, with autumn around the corner, takes on a greater color variety. Silver beads are prominent, gold jewelry also figures, and very often pearls combined with colored stones or tinted to blend with the colors of fall costumes.

Fashion Points in new Fur Coats for fall.

1. The interest in muskrat furs
2. The importance of brown furs
3. The spotted fur sports coat
4. The straight silhouette
5. Use of contrasting furs
6. The growing interest in three-quarter and seven-eighth lengths.

CORN YIELD INCREASES, FEDERAL REPORT SHOWS

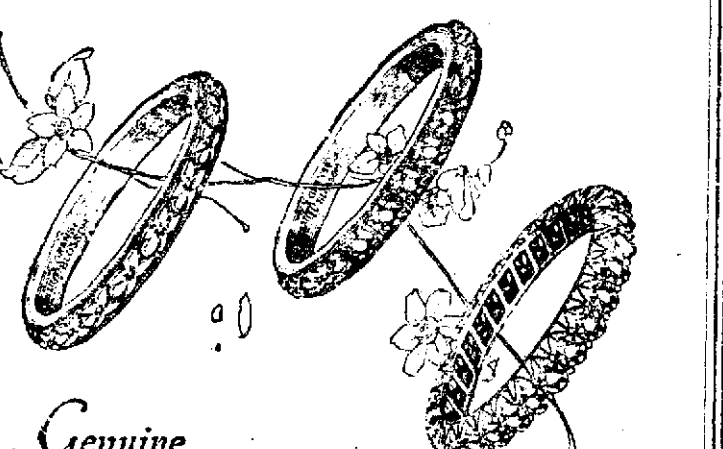

H. J. Ridge, Allen County Farm Bureau agent has received a report from the Federal Crop Reporting Service showing that contrary to general opinion more corn is being produced now than there was in earlier years.

The yield last year in Ohio was 11 bushels to an acre as compared with 24 bushels in 1893. In that year 20,509,000 bushels of grain were produced whereas last year it was 100,000,000 bushels. These are the figures reckoned by C. J. West, statistician of U. S. department of agriculture.

Every Mother wants to enhance the natural attractiveness of the little ones. We have everything in the toggery line that enables her to do it. Our stock for kiddies is beautiful. Everything for them.

Accessories for Smart, New Costumes

SEPTEMBER SHIPS bring fashionable women who have been summering and shopping abroad. Their smart costumes are marked by extreme simplicity. They show in their choice of accessories their awareness of the fashion importance of such things. Purse, hose and gloves frequently match exactly in color, hats and jewelry accent in line and color the smartness of the frock.

Irene Castle, always a picture of chic simplicity, arrives on the "Paris" in a black silk frock. Dull black are here suede shoes, a small felt hat and her purse. And relieving and accenting this black are the sparkling and brilliant ornaments in her hat, and the small jeweled buttons which gleam on her white chemise yoke, and at the end of her long tight sleeves.

The mother of Douglas Fairbanks Jr., who arrives on the same boat, looks almost as young as her good-looking son. "Many bou-tonniers are worn," she tells us. And her own—a large carnation of shaded orchid and pink—sets off her unbelted beige frock to decided advantage. A smart Parisian traveler has matched exactly her high crowned hat, her handbag, and her shoes.

Concerning the Prince of Wales and the New Fashions

THE PRINCE IS HERE. And there is a fashion aqueduct to the news of his arrival. For, after the Bengalia transferred its royal passenger to a yacht at quarantine, it came up the bay to its pier bringing noted beauties who were in the Prince's party and many attractive debutantes who were also fellow passengers.

FIRST IN INTEREST is Lenore Cahill, the young woman from St. Louis, the only American to dance with the Prince. She was just the right size to dance with, said he, and she is just the right type to wear a felt hat in green, with a square crown, of course. A green frock of the newest silk—bengaline. A coat, to make an ensemble, in just the same shade of green as the frock but with kasha for its fabric. The feet that danced with the Prince wear Cinderella slippers of matching green lizard skin. LADY DIANA MANNERS, whose blond loveliness is famous on both sides of the sea, endorses the color scheme that is the most popular of all.

This Gardenia Note Is Significant

Many other women wear the shoulder flower in autumn colors. Grace Le Rue, who sang to the Prince on the way, chooses a yellow gardenia to blend with the warm tones of her brown dress. Her hat is burnt russet color.

AND OTHER YOUNG WOMEN, less famous but no less fashionable, are wearing:—

The ensemble costume suit that often chooses the tulle for its complement. Have you seen our line of them? The simple coat dress that emphasizes kasha, rep or charmeen, and three silhouettes, the side closing from shoulder to hem, the surprise lapels, or the long front opening with Directoire details.

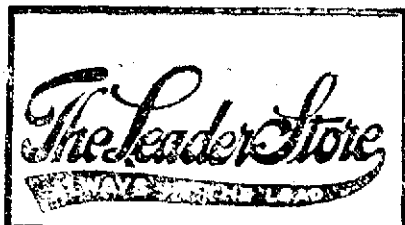

Costume jewelry that, with autumn around the corner, takes on a greater color variety. Silver beads are prominent, gold jewelry also figures, and very often pearls combined with colored stones or tinted to blend with the colors of fall costumes.

Fashion Points in new Fur Coats for fall.

1. The interest in muskrat.
2. The importance of brown furs.
3. The spotted fur sports coat.
4. The straight silhouette.
5. Use of contrasting furs.
6. The growing interest in three-quarter and seven-eighth lengths.

The Store of Sensations!

We know Lima people like sensations so we are trying to give all we can. First we opened our wonderful windows, where shopping is made a pleasure. Then, the only one of its kind in Lima, a "Five Dollar Millinery Shop" and then our announcement Friday of a "1c profit" toilet goods department, a wonderful moderately priced Jewelry Department and a complete leather goods department, all on our main floor. There are more coming this week and next week and weeks to follow. Watch the paper every day for announcements. It all means a saving for you.

A Correction!

In our Friday's advertisement of Toilet Goods there appeared the following item: "Ade Mennen's Shaving Cream, 25c." This should have read: "Ade Mennen's Cream, 25c"—and was due to a typographical error of this newspaper.
